

Accreditation for DMEPOS

Positioning our providers to run smarter, customer-centered businesses that make them the “partner of choice” within the health care continuum.

Benefits

- Proactively manages critical risks
- Enhances operational consistency
- Helps gain access to managed care contracting opportunities
- Differentiates your company within provider networks

Eligibility

Organizations providing any equipment directly to the patient as sale, rental or loaned items including oxygen and respiratory equipment, infusion pumps, or custom rehabilitation products.

Standards

Our process-oriented standards focus on operational areas that critically impact the safety and quality of DMEPOS services including:

- Equipment management
- Staff competency
- Infection control

Our standards are nationally recognized by CMS for all components of DMEPOS services that you may provide. Additionally, The Joint Commission is recognized by many states for DMEPOS licensure requirements.

As a result of our industry experience in health care safety and quality, we also continue to be the most widely recognized accreditor by payors and referral sources.

Onsite Survey Experience

Compliance with our nationally recognized standards and participation in our accreditation process provides your company with a foundation on which to run a smarter, customer-centered business.

During the onsite visit, our surveyors determine standards compliance using an interactive “tracer” process that focuses on a customer experience. The interactive process involves you, your staff, and their clients/patients. This unique approach provides value because it enables your management team to see the strengths and weaknesses of their processes in real time under typical business conditions.

Cost

Accreditation fees average pennies per patient, per day. patient volume and number of locations and are spread over the three-year accreditation cycle.
