Welcome to the latest issue of PLM!

From the desk of Ana Pujols McKee, M.D., Executive Vice President and CMO

Welcome to the new look of Physician Leader Monthly!

We've redesigned the newsletter to be more compact, easier to digest and to get you involved. Yes, you. We plan to start profiling physician leaders like yourself, asking questions about what inspires you or what issues keep you awake at night.

We also invite you to contribute to The Joint Commission's Physician Blog. Whether it's gun violence, handwashing or an experience you had, if you feel it needs to be shared with others we'd be happy to be the venue. If you would like to submit a blog or be the focus of a profile, please send us an email. For the profiles, we will send you back five

Patient Safety Systems
New 2015 hospital chapter
Read the article

---

New Ebola Preparedness Resources web page
Read the article
See infection control and emergency management standards for Ebola situations
Listen to October 30 CDC/Joint Commission webinar replay

---

Resources

Joint Commission Journal article: "Creating a Patient Complaint Capture and Resolution Process to Incorporate Best Practices for Patient-Centered Representation," by C.M. Levin, MHSA, and Joseph Hopkins, M.D., MMM.

Teleconference replay: Inpatient Diabetes: Be an Ace about the Follow-Up Appointment Prior to Discharge

---

Blogs, Podcasts & Webinars

Crisis Response. Ana Pujols McKee, M.D., executive vice president and CMO, discusses the new Ebola Preparedness web page.

The Contagious Patient. Lisa Waldowski, M.S., APRN, CIC, infection control specialist, discusses the management of highly contagious diseases in hospitals. [Podcast 5.19]

The Tragedy of Physician Suicide. Paul Ziaya, M.D., field director, discusses suicide, specifically regarding new physicians as they negotiate the difficulties of residency education.
Your Copy of Physician Leader Monthly is Here!.htm[11/14/2014 2:31:10 PM]