Joint Commission joins IHI, others to form National Steering Committee for Patient Safety

The Joint Commission’s Executive Vice President and CMO, Ana Pujols McKee, MD, is among the 24 members of the newly formed National Steering Committee for Patient Safety. Learn more

Effective July 1: Reductions to requirements applicable to telehealth services in ambulatory care

Beginning July 1, providers that primarily conduct surgical and nonsurgical services via a telehealth platform will have approximately 25 percent fewer elements of performance (EPs). Read more

AIM correction: CMS' SEP-1 bundle NOT a Joint Commission requirement

An error in the April 17 issue of Annals of Internal Medicine (AIM) references The Joint Commission requiring the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services’ Severe Sepsis and Septic Shock Early Management (SEP-1) Bundle. This is incorrect. Read more
Quick Safety: Learn about the critical need for continuity of operations planning—before your organization becomes the victim of an emergency.

Systems-Based Framework for Patient Agitation and Violence in the Emergency Department: In certain health care settings, like EDs, assaults by agitated patients is rising, putting staff members at increasing risk.

Emerging Practices to Prevent Newborn Falls and Drops: An estimated 600-1,600 newborn falls and drops occur yearly in U.S. hospitals, often caused by inattention of parents or family members visiting the new baby.

RESOURCES

Refreshed Speak Up™ — ready-to-use patient safety resources
The Joint Commission’s award-winning Speak Up™ — which has reached people in more than 70 countries — is back with a fresh new look with Speak Up™ About Your Care

New podcast program: Quality & Patient Safety Conversations
Care transitions between hospitals and skilled nursing facilities take center stage in the inaugural episode of Quality and Patient Safety Conversations. Listen to the podcast or read the article

Webinar replay: First Pioneers in Quality webinar of 2018 now available online
A webinar replay of the first Pioneers in Quality™ webinar in 2018 — “2018 Pioneers in Quality: Learnings from 2016 eCQM Results, Exceptions and Exclusions” — is now available online. View the webinar replay.

Interactive change management workshop tailored for health care leaders, physicians
Join the Joint Commission Center for Transforming Healthcare on Oct. 2-3 for a workshop based on Facilitating Change™, the Joint Commission’s change management model, which is a foundational component for high reliability. Participants will get hands-on experience working with change management tools that can be applied in daily work immediately. Register

THE JOINT COMMISSION IN THE NEWS

Joint Commission CEO: Current quality improvements won’t get hospitals to zero harm | HealthExec
Joint Commission eyes overrides of dispensing cabinets | American Pharmacy News

Email us at physicianleader@jointcommission.org | Forward to a Colleague